

The association Red Colombiana de Aging Active y Digno , headed by its president, Deinedt Castellanos, is a grassroots organization made up of organized groups of older people. It has been developing its work in the context of the human rights of the elderly, retirees, pensioners, and those who do not have a fixed income in Colombia, at the local, national and international levels, with networks and organizations that tend to improve the quality of life of the elderly and elderly.

In the political and social context of our country, and speaking in terms of social changes that benefit the entire Colombian population, we are facing reforms that seek changes so that the elderly population benefits and is recognized, and at the same time visible, as subjects of rights and political subjects, who have built the Colombia we have today.

We will hold an INTERNATIONAL FORUM at the premises of the Congress of the Republic of Colombia, São Paulo on April 26 and 27, on pension reform and health reform, with international guests and government entities responsible for decision-making, in matters pertaining to the issue of public policy on aging and old age.

These advocacy activities are the product of a work process, in an action plan of the Colombian network with several actors, academia, the estate, organized and unorganized older persons, private enterprise, international cooperation (such as HelpAge international, such as Red Global that aims at the human rights of the elderly). The International Federation of Associationsof Mers of France (FIAPA) and the Continental Network.
